ARBITRATION PLANS

The Correspondence Between United States and Great Britain.

LITTLE SUBSTANTIAL PROGRESS MADE

Views of the Two Governments So Explicitly Stated That Future Discussion May Be Confined To Narrowing the Few Divergencies of Method.

Washington, July 18.—The efforts of the United States and Great Britain to agree upon a general arbitration treaty for the settlement of all controversies through the establishment of a permanent tribunal, as well as the progress of diplomatic negotiations towards solving the Venezuelan problem, are set forth in thirteen communications just made public by the state department. While they constitute the first authoritative disclosures upon these great questions since President Cleveland's famous Christmastide message to congress, it is disclosed that previous press reports of the negotiations between the two governments have accurately outlined the course of events. Little substantial progress towards a general arbitration treaty is disclosed by the documents. An outline in part of the proposed procedure is laid down and the views of the two governments are so explicitly stated that future discussion may be confined towards narrowing the few divergencies of method. The further fact is made apparent that the United States has not relaxed its vigilance in demanding a just settlement of the Venezuela boundary question and has rejected the British proposals for abritrating that dispute under terms involving the surrender of any part of Venezuela's claims.

Venezuela Matter.

The correspondence opens with a letter from Ambassador Bayard to Lord Salisbury dated February 27 last, stating that his instructions continued to indicate an urgent desire to have the Guianan boundary question removed as soon as practicable from the atmosphere of possible controversy, and proposing an entrance forthwith upon negotiations at Washington between the British ambassador and the secretary of state. Lord Salisbury, in reply, on March 3, said his government readily concurred in the suggestion and had sent instructions to Sir Julian Pauncefote directing him to discuss the question either with the Venezuelan representative or the United States acting as the friend of Venezuela.

Salisbury's Plan for Arbitration.

Lord Salisbury's instructions to Sir Julian Pauncefote, dated March 5, form the third document and are devoted to the system for general international arbitration, negotiations for the establishment of which had been ruptured by Secretary Gresham's death. Lord Salisbury submits the following: "Heads of a treaty for arbitration in certain cases. 1—Her Britannic majesty and the president of the United States shall appoint two or more permanent judicial officers for the purpose of this treaty; and on the appearance of any difference between the two powers, which, in the judgment of either of them, can not be settled by negotiation, each of them shall designate one of the said officers as arbitrators, and the two arbitrators shall hear and determine any matter referred to them in accordance with this treaty.

Umpire for Arbitrators.

2—Before entering on such arbitration the arbitrators shall select an umpire by whom any question upon which they disagree, whether interlocutory or final, shall be decided. The decision of such umpire upon any interlocutory question shall be binding upon the arbitrators. The determination of the arbitrators, or, if they disagree, the decision of the umpire shall be the award upon the matters referred. 3—Complaints made by the nationals of one power against the officers of the other; all pecuniary claims or groups of claims amounting to not more than £100,000, made on either power by the nationals of the other whether based on an alleged right by treaty or agreement or otherwise, all questions affecting diplomatic or consular privileges; all claims for damages or indemnity under the said amount; all alleged rights of fishery, access, navigation or commercial privilege, and all questions settled by special agreement between the two parties, shall be referred to arbitration in accordance with this treaty, and the award thereon shall be final.

Territory and Territorial Claims.

Any difference in regard to a question of fact or of international law, involving the territory, territorial rights, sovereignty, or jurisdiction of either power, or any pecuniary claim or group of claims of any kind, involving a sum larger than £100,000 shall be referred to arbitration under this treaty. But if, in any such case, within three months after the award has been reported either power protests that such award is erroneous in respect to some issue of fact, or some issue of international law, the award shall be reviewed by a court composed of three of the judges of the supreme court of Great Britain and three of the judges of the supreme court of the United States; and if the said court shall determine, after hearing the case, by a majority of not less than five to one, that the said issue has been rightly determined, the award shall stand and be valid, but in default of such determination, it shall not be valid. If no protest is entered by either power against the award within the time limited, it shall be final. 5—Any difference which, in the judgment of either power, materially affects the honor or integrity of its territory, shall not be referred to arbitration under this treaty except by special agreement.

Secretary Olney, in reply April 11, declares that Lord Salisbury's proposals are welcomed with the keenest appreciation of the true value and of the enlightened and progressive spirit which animates them. So far as they manifest a desire that the two great English speaking peoples of the world shall remain in perpetual peace, he fully reciprocates that desire on behalf of the government and people of the United States. But by the direction of the president he proposes the following substitute for Lord Salisbury's articles four and five. 4—Arbitration under this treaty shall also be obligatory in respect of all questions now pending or hereafter arising, involving territorial rights, boundaries, sovereignty or jurisdiction, or any pecuniary claim or group of claims aggregating a sum larger than £100,000 and in respect of all controversies not in this treaty specially described. In the case of controversies provided for by this article, the award shall be final if concurred in by all the arbitrators If assented to by a majority only, the award shall be final unless one of the parties within three months from its promulgation, shall protest in writing to the other that the award is erroneous in respect of some issue of fact or of law. In every such case the award shall be reviewed by a court composed of three of the judges of the supreme court of Great Britain and three of the judges of the supreme court of the United States who, before entering upon their duties shall agree upon three learned and impartial jurists to be added to said court in case they shall be equally divided upon the award to be made, and the award so affirmed or so rendered by said court, whether unanimously or by a majority vote, shall be final. If, however, the court shall be equally divided upon the subject of the award to be made, the three jurists agreed upon as hereinbefore provided shall be added to the said court; and the award of the court so constituted, whether rendered unanimously or by a majority vote, shall be final.

Opportunity for Experiment.

In conclusion, Secretary Olney says: "It only remains to observe that, if article 4 as amended, should prove acceptable, no reason is perceived why the pending Venezuela boundary dispute should not be brought within the treaty by express words of inclusion. If, however, no treaty for general arbitration can now be expected, it cannot be improper to add that the Venezuela boundary dispute seems to offer a good opportunity for one of those tentative experiments at arbitration which, as Lord Salisbury justly intimates, would be of decided advantage as tending to indicate the lines upon which a scheme for general arbitration can be judiciously drawn."

CONVENTION BULLETINS.

The Western Union Will Report the Work of the Populists Free of Charge.

New York, July 18.—The Western Union Telegraph company has arranged to send a free bulletin service over the country from the populist and bi-metallic conventions, which meet in St. Louis next week, just as it did from the late republican and democratic conventions. The St. Louis and Chicago bulletins were sent to some 15,000 offices, and were given to the press and the public free of charge. The Chicago bulletins of the democratic convention circulated over the various circuits from the New York office alone after they were received there, amounted in the aggregate to more than 193,000, or about 2,500,000 words.

Meteor Wins a Drifting Race.

Bangor, Ireland, July 18.—The Royal Ulster Yacht club regatta took place yesterday afternoon. The event in which the greatest interest centred was the race for yachts over 20 rating, for which all the crack British boats and Emperor Williams cutter Meteor were entered. There was scarcely any wind, however, and the race degenerated into a drifting match, in which the German boat again showed her phenomenal qualities. The Meteor held the lead until the breeze died away altogether, which caused the other boats to give up the race. The Meteor drifted home.

Objectionable Marks Upon Freight.

Providence, July 18.—The supreme court has granted an injunction against the New York, New Haven & Hartford railroad company to restrain it from using objectionable marks upon freight consigned to one of the wholesale concerns in this city. This is looked upon as a test case. The marks are letters and numbers stamped in red and are understood to denote the time of arrival in this city. The retailers object to the disfigurement, and the wholesalers have made the protest.

WITH PUBLIC HONORS

Funeral Arrangements for the Late Gov. Russell Completed.

WIFE AND MOTHER RETURN HOME

Cambridge Anxious To Pay a Last Fitting Tribute to Her Distinguished Son—The Remains Due at Boston To-morrow Morning.

Boston, June 18.—The arrangements for the funeral of ex-Gov. Russell have been practically completed. Dr. W. D. Swan, brother-in-law of the deceased, arrived home in Cambridge last evening from Magnolia, the summer residence of the ex-governor's family. Mrs. Russell and the children did not return to Cambridge with Dr. Swan, but arrived this morning. Mrs. Charles Theodore Russell, sr., accompanied by her son, Charles Theodore, and her grandson, Charles Theodore, arrived home from the White Mountains last evening. The aged mother had been told of the death of her son, but she bore up bravely under the terrible shock. The mother and wife with the brothers and sisters talked over the funeral arrangements this morning. The Boston & Maine officials have notified the family that the train carrying the remains will be given the right of way on the railroads under its control, and will also notify the family as nearly as possible when the body and its escorts arrive in Boston. This will be early Sunday morning. The desire that there shall be a public funeral is universal among the citizens of Cambridge, and the members of the family, unless they change their minds, will not interpose an objection. The funeral will take place from the Shepard Memorial Church, corner of Mason and Garden streets, and Rev. Alexander McKenzie, the pastor, who who arrived in Cambridge last evening, will officiate. The plan arranged is to have the funeral on Tuesday. The First Corps of cadets, of which the ex-governor was at one time a member, will attend the funeral, and Company B of the Fifth regiment and Company B of the First regiment, the Cambridge militia companies, will also act as an escort. Word was received in Cambridge last night to the effect that if possible President Cleveland would come to Cambridge from Gray Gables to attend the funeral. The family has received hundred of messages of condolence from different parts of the country.

SYMPATHY AND RESPECT.

Flags at Half-Mast at Dalhousie, N. B., When Gov. Russell's Body Arrived.

Dalhousie, N. B., July 18.—The body of ex-Gov. William E. Russell of Massachusetts, who died suddenly at Little Pabos, arrived here on the steamer Admiral yesterday from that place. It was received with every token of respect and sympathy. Flags on the public and many private buildings were at half mast, and many of the leading citizens of this place were at the wharf on the arrival of the steamer. The body was in charge of Col. Russell, brother of the deceased, and Col. Peabody. A special train for St. Johns was ready, and the remains were at once transferred to it. They will go from St. Johns to Boston on a fast train to-day.

BRYAN AT LINCOLN.

Most Enthusiastically Greeted by Thousands at His Home.

Lincoln, Neb., July 18.—When Wm. J. Bryan and his party reached here last night the thousands in waiting at the depot simply went wild in their enthusiasm. Tin horns, steam calliopes, firecrackers, whistles and everything else that would add to the din were used. It was with great difficulty that a passage was made to the carriages in waiting for the presidential candidate and his family. They were then driven to their home, and after a short rest went to the Hotel Lincoln. From the hotel a civil and military parade escorted Mr. Bryan to the state house. Standing upon a platform built outside the capitol, he delivered his speech, and, although it was warming the enthusiasm of his auditors was not diminished, and his remarks were frequently interrupted by applause.

Names Law Special Agents.

Albany, July 18.—The state civil service commission has completed the examination of the papers of candidates who are desirous of being appointed special agents by State Excise Commissioner Lyman. Of the 651 candidates who tried the civil service commission examination for special agents on July 25, 215 passed, 38 of whom are persons who have preference in appointments made.

Raritona, July 18.—Mayor Preston has called a special meeting of the common council for this evening to vote an appropriation for a delegation of members to go to the Cleveland celebration next week.

Indiana Sails for New York.

Lewes, Del., July 18.—The United States battleship Indiana sailed last night for New York.

PLANS OF GOLD MEN

Conference of Yellow Metal Advocates at Philadelphia.

AN OFFER MADE TO REPUBLICANS

Proposition to Support McKinley in Return for Aid for Democratic Congressional Candidates—Third Ticket Disapproved Of as Dangerous.

Philadelphia, July 18.—An important conference of gold standard democrats was held yesterday in the office of John C. Bullitt a well known lawyer, for the purpose of protesting against the action of the Chicago convention. The meeting was held in private and it was presided over by Henry D. Welsh, a director of the Pennsylvania railroad. Among the sixty democrats in attendance were: John C. Bullitt, Charles H. Jones, vice-president of the Trust Company of North America; J. Simpson Africa, president of the Union Trust company; ex-mercantile appraiser Charles K. Ingersoll, James F. Sullivan, director of the Union Traction company; ex-city treasurer William Redwood Wright; Judge Harmon Verkes of Bucks county, William M. Singerly, president of the Philadelphia Record Publishing company (which paper has bolted the Chicago platform); George F. Baer of Reading, a director of the Philadelphia & Reading Railroad company, and others. Mr. Singerly stated that he had proposed to prominent republicans that a deal be effected whereby in democratic districts of this state the democrats should vote for McKinley and in return the republicans support the democratic nominees for congress, state senate and general assembly. Mr. Singerly was of the opinion that such a deal could be effected within from thirty to forty days. He furtker expressed his opposition to the placing of a "sound money" democratic ticket in the field because such a step would jeopardize McKinley and would injure the regular democratic organization in Pennsylvania. There was a general discussion on matters appropriate to the conference, and the following resolution, which was prepared by Mr. Bullitt, was unanimously adopted:

The Platform Denounced.

Resolved, That the platform adopted by the Chicago convention is neither honest nor patriotic, and therefore not democratic. That it differs so radically from the past doctrines of the democratic party, and particularly from the national platform of 1892 and the Pennsylvania platform of the year 1896, that we cannot as honest democrats accept its wide departure from true democratic doctrine and we believe that the highest duty of true democrats is to make every effort to defeat the ticket nominated at Chicago. That a committe of seven be appointed, of whom the president of this meeting shall be chairman, with instructions to confer with representative democrats throughout the state for the purpose of formulating some plan to preserve the integrity of the democratic party in Pennsylvania and secure the defeat of Bryan and Sewall.

MISSOURI GOLD MEN.

A Call To Be Issued by a Number of Prominent Democrats.

St. Louis, July 18.—A number of prominent gold-standard democrats of this city took the first step towards repudiating the ticket and platform of the Chicago convention. They have decided to issue a call for a convention of the gold-standard democracy of Missouri, to determine whether or not a third ticket shall be put in the field, whether the fight for gold shall extend into the congressional districts and whether the bolters shall come out openly for McKinley and centralize their efforts on him. Col. James O. Broadhead, ex-minister to Switzerland under Cleveland, presided at the meeting. Addresses were made and a resolution was adopted providing for the naming of a committee of seven by Chairman Broadhead to send out a call for a convention of gold-standard democrats to be held at an early date. Circulars will be sent all over the country to gold-standard leaders asking them to co-operate or be present at the meeting.

Wound Up in a Row.

Lancaster, Pa., July 18.—The game between Hartford and Lancaster yesterday afternoon ended in an exciting dispute in the ninth inning over a decision of Umpire Hoagland. There was an exciting row and the players swarmed around the umpire in menacing style. Hoagland refused to reverse his decision and finally walked off the field and went to his hotel, followed by the jeers of the crowd. Hartford refused to resume play without an official umpire.

Connolly Challenges Everhardt.

New York, July 18.—Eddie Connolly of Boston has issued a defi to box Jack Everhardt, Charley McKeever or Young Leeds at 125 pounds. Harry Gilmore of New York, his backer, stands ready to post $500 as a side bet on the match. Connolly's cartel is specially directed at Everhardt and Ernest, the latter having been awarded some time ago a decision over the Bostonian.

DISGRACEFUL BASEBALL.

The Pittsburg-Philadelphia Game Winds Up in a Riot and Fisticuffs.

Pittsburg, July 18.—The Pittsburg and Philadelphia game yesterday afternoon wound up in a disgraceful snarl. It was a close game and the home team was one run in the lead until Philadelphia went to bat in the last inning. They batted Hastings for three runs and took the lead with two to spare. In Pittsburg's half the local men filled the bases on a close decision with only one out. Philadelphia kicked hard on the decision, and while the players were having it out at the home plate with the umpire, Ely scored from third. This further enraged the visitors and they called Umpire Betts all the names in the category of toughs. Taylor struck the umpire and Clements was only prevented from doing so by Nash, who ran out on the field from the bench. Taylor and Clements were both fined and removed from the game, Carsey and Grady taking their places. Carsey made a balk, allowing another run and tieing the score. Then the visitors all gathered about the umpire again and the police had to be called. Nothing like it was ever seen on the local grounds. The Philadelphia management declare that they were robbed and that Umpire Betts will be removed.

NORTH ATLANTIC SQUADRON.

Preparations for the Coming Manoeuvres Off New York.

Washington, July 18.—Rear-Admiral Bunce has begun the concentration of his ships at Tompkinsville, S. I., in preparation for the August maneouvres of the North Atlantic squadron. The Cincinnati and Montgomery, which have been assisting the Connecticut naval militia in their annual drills, have been ordered to be at the rendezvous to-day. By the middle of next week it is expected that all of the vessels of the squadron will be there and the work of coaling will begin at once. It is hoped that all will be ready for a start about August 1, and the first of the drills will probably take place in the triangle southeast of Sandy Hook, lying between the steamer routes, a locality which, although not far distant from the coast, is almost free from shipping at all times. In this practically open water the ships will have full opportunity to fire their big guns with service charges, and to parade in fleet formation in files and fours, without running much danger of collisions with merchant steamers. The spectacle will be an attractive one, with the fleet of fifteen warships in battle array. For prudential reasons the admiral will endeavor to avoid the intrusion of excursion steamers.

ANTI-BRYAN POPULISTS.

"Middle-of-the-Road" Men To Hold a Public Meeting To-morrow.

St. Louis, July 18.—The "middle of the road" populists are making a strong fight against either the endorsement of Bryan and the Chicago platform or the nomination of the Nebraskan on a populist platform. They are much encouraged by the action of the Arkansas populist convention, which refused to pass a resolution instructing its delegates to endorse Bryan, and they propose to crystalize the anti-Bryan sentiment by a public meeting on Sunday afternoon, when the campaign against him will be opened. All delegates and populists who want a separate ticket and an independent populist organization are expected to be present. Chairman Taubeneck of the people's party national committee leads this faction of the populists and with him are associated those who signed the manifesto issued after the republican convention declaring for Teller for president.

SALT TO KILL ARMY WORMS.

Experiments by a New York Farmer Which May Prove Successful.

Rome, N. Y., July 18.—A Rome farmer has discovered that the army worm is killed when it comes in contact with salt. To confine the worms where they are operating he is putting a windrow of salt around the field, or to protect a growing crop that is not infested he will run a line of salt around that. From experiments he made in which several worms were killed he is confident that when the worms undertake to crawl over the row of salt enough of the salt will adhere to the worms to destroy them. The result of the experiment will be given to the public.

The Fighting in Crete.

London, July 18.—A dispatch to the Times from Canea says that the fighting in the Apokorona district of the island of Crete continues and the Turkish troops make little progress against the Christian Cretans.

Flight of a Peruvian Rebel Leader.

London, July 18.—A Lima, Peru, dispatch to the Times says that Seminario, the leader of the rebels at Yauricos in the Loreto district, has fled, leaving the treasury empty. The rebellion in that district is now ended.

Gov. Morton and Party in Camp.

Port Smiths, N. Y., July 18.—Gov. Morton and his party, consisting of twenty persons, are now quartered here. They are occupying the McKeown camp on the upper St. Regis.

SEVERAL WOUNDED

Another Fierce Riot in the Streets of Cleveland.

THE MOB AGAIN ATTACKS THE MILITIA

Repeated Charges with Bayonets and a Number of Strikers Are Injured—Stones and Bricks Hurled at the Soldiers—Worst Fight Yet.

Cleveland, July 18.—The fiercest fight since the strike of the Brown Hoisting works began occurred last evening. The militia kept the crowd back while the non-union men were taken from the shops, but the mob increased until it numbered many thousands and extended over a territory of fifteen squares. Jeers, stones and clubs drew a charge from the police and militia. Many on both sides were wounded. Just how many striker were hurt is uncertain, but two men who were so severely stabbed with bayonets that they could not get away, are lying at the St. Clair hospital. They are Thomas McGreavy and Thomas Garety.

Bayonets Freely Used.

All day there were frequent clashes between the mob at the Brown Hoisting works, the police and militia. The members of the mob were in a vicious mood and whenever a lone soldier or policeman could be reached, violence was attempted. The troops from 2 p. m. were constantly under arms and had great difficulty in clearing the streets, two charges being necessary in which the bayonet was freely used. But as soon as a charge was ended, the mob, which early in the afternoon numbered 5,000, would flow back against the line of steel like a wave of the sea and again begin to hoot and throw stones. When the workmen had been taken away and the troops were returning to their quarters at the works, another vengeful rally was made upon company E.

Beat a Soldier into Insensibility.

Again a charge was made and cold steel was driven home so hard that many of the rioters had to be helped away. At this time some one sent in a general alarm to the police station, and every patrol wagon was soon dashing through the streets, causing the wildest rumors among the thousands on their way home from work. There was no need of the police reinforcements, and the crowd, which had been swelled to 15,000, began to melt away. It looked as if the trouble was ended, but at 7 o'clock an assault was made upon a soldier who was passing along Wilson avenue. He fought desperately, as did also a policeman who hurried to his aid. A squad of troops came to their rescue, but not before the officer had been beaten into insensibility. Again the patrol wagons rushed to the scene and had all they could do to force a passage through the angry mob. Repeated outbreaks occurred throughout the night, and more trouble is expected this evening.

NEW YORK DEMOCRATS.

Their Attitude Toward the Chicago Ticket To Be Left to the State Convention.

New York, July 18.—The conference of democratic leaders at the office of ex-Gov. Flower last evening was participated in by Senator Hill, State Chairman Hinkley, ex-Gov. Flower, ex-Lieut.-Gov. Sheehan, and ex-police commissioner James W. Martin, chairman of the executive committee of Tammany Hall. Strict secrecy was enjoined, but a little of the proceedings leaked out. The whole political situation was gone over, and the best possible methods of procedure discussed. It was finally agreed that an early meeting of the state committee should be held, and Chairman Hinkley was asked to issue a call at once. The attitude of the democracy of the state of New York in the coming campaign will be left to the state convention to decide. Senator Hill has decided to remain silent, it is said, until the convention meets.

Last Year's Immigration.

Washington, July 18.—A statement prepared by the commissioner of immigration shows the number of immigrants who arrived in this country during the fiscal year ended June 30, 1896, to have been flo 267, as compared with 258 536 during the fiscal year 1895. Of the whole number 212 406 were males and 130,861 females. The countries from which the immigrants came are given as follows: Austria-Hungary 95 103; Italy, 68,069; Russia, [illegible] Germany, 6[illegible], United Kingdom, 94 067, all other countries, 61,445.

Victory for the American Canoe "Yankee."

London, July 18.—The canoe Yankee, owned by W. W. Howard of New York, a well known newspaper man and sportsman, took part yesterday in the regatta of the Royal Canoe club. The Yankee boat won the club's fifty-mile challenge cup, beating her English competitors twenty-eight minutes and nine seconds over a ten-mile course.

Treasury Gold Reserve.

Washington, July 18.—The treasury gold reserve at the opening of business to-day stood at $65,871,216. Yesterday's withdrawals were $2,033 100, of which $1,[illegible] were for export.

METHUSALEH OF FROGS.

Weighed Over Ten Pounds and Was a Foot and a Half Tall.

Rahway turned out one of the greatest murder mysteries of the age, and now it has, according to the New York World, produced a frog compared with which all recorded frogs are pigmies.

Old Moses, with that magic rod of his, brought a plague of frogs that covered Egypt and clogged the yellow Nile. But among all the frogs with which Moses rebuked the Pharaoh, it is dollars to buttons there was no such old "hunker" of a frog as a colored man named Jackson captured the other day in Milton lake, near Rahway, N. J.

He was the original frog, the indubitable Methusaleh and founder of the frog family. When the little pick-aninny Jackson, walking along the lake shore, saw a big stone covered with green slime protruding from the water he poked it. There came forth a noise like all the thunders of Sinai, and the darky fled, screaming.

Some workmen who were mending a dam near by asked him what the trouble was. He gasped and said an alligator had tried to swallow him. They coaxed and threatened him, offered him money and a drubbing, but nothing would tempt him back to the lake.

The workmen finally found the water monster snoozing in shallow water, underneath some willows. They attacked him with clubs and stunned him. Then they dragged him out on shore.

No one in Rahway ever told a lie. The giant frog weighed 10¾ pounds. His right leg weighed 2¾ pounds, and his left leg 2¼ pounds. He was 18 inches long and 12 inches wide. The width of his mouth was 8 inches, the length of his leg 13¼ inches.

And that wasn't all of it. Jackson's father celebrated his silver wedding a night or two after, and the five pounds of frog legs made part and parcel of the feast.

The biggest frogs on earth are found in this country. Nowhere else are frogs so large a feature of swamp and marsh life. A year ago 12 enormous American frogs were sent alive to Europe, where they excited much wonder, but none of them was as large as the Rahway frog here described.

NOVEL SAILING VESSEL.

It Has Many Improvements Both Above and Below the Water Line.

Very few patents are taken out on the rig of sailing vessels for the reason that most of the improvements have been thought out. Sailors are likewise very conservative and opposed to new-fangled devices.

Here, however, is a newly-devised vessel, with radical and novel improvements both above and below the water line. The various devices have been patented by Mr. William King, of New Orleans. Under his plan the stability of the vessel is increased by providing it with a telescopic centerboard, which consists of a main centerboard within which is a double centerboard, an amidship centerboard carried by the double centerboard, and a port and starboard centerboard respectively carried on each side of the double centerboard, and within the main centerboard.

The spar plan and sail plan are also formed so that they may be enlarged or decreased at pleasure. This is accomplished by providing the spinnaker booms, and the gaffs of the mainsail and of the spinnakers with auxiliary spars, sliding within suitable rings or sockets which are fixed near the ends of said gaffs and booms.

These spars are adjusted by means of halyards and blocks, and can be reefed home or run out as desired, and a larger or smaller amount of canvas carried. Two spinnakers are used, and the booms are pivotally mounted on suitable steps which are placed one on each bow of the vessel.

The spinnakers are not hoisted to the topmast as is usually done, but are provided with extensive gaffs, the heels of the gaffs being pivotally connected with a handle which is clamped upon the mast. This connection has a universal movement.

The spinnaker booms are sheeted forward to the bow at the end and aft to the outer end, and when they are not in use they rest in crutches at the end of the bowsprit.

Yuma Desert Was a Sea.

The Yuma desert was once a salt sea of considerable area, a fact which is proved by the tons of oysters and other sea shells found in the sands just beneath the surface.

GAME-KILLING FOXES.

Their Destructiveness Shown by the Contents of a Burrow.

Arthur S. Burt, of Old Haddam, when going across lots recently discovered the carcass of a woodchuck partly eaten, and a little further along a ruffed grouse. Thinking it was the work of a fox, he made search and found the burrow, with a large black hen and two more partridges at its mouth. Suspecting there were young partridges in the row, he made up his mind to return and dig them out, as the town of Haddam pays a bounty of two dollars a head.

It was five days before he had a chance to do this, and when he dug out the burrow with the assistance of Sherm Fowler he found that the wily mother fox had removed. They were determined to have that bounty, and incidentally the foxes, and after a long search they found a new burrow, picking up two more partridges on the way. On digging out this new hole they took out eight partridges, three rabbits and a very large woodchuck, with five young foxes in the end. The partridges were partly eaten, but the woodchuck was completely cleaned out, nothing but the skin being left.

Sportsmen have long claimed that foxes were more destructive to game than all the hunters, and have noted a great increase of foxes in towns that have not paid a bounty for the last few years. The only incentive the farmers' boys have for killing the fox is the bounty money. Eight partridges in a burrow but four days old show the great destructiveness of foxes.

VENEER PRODUCTION.

Some Woods Can Be Sawed as Thin as Writing Paper.

While the finer and thinner veneers of costly woods are sliced tangentially from the side of the log, there are woods that cannot be cut this way—no amount of boiling or steaming rendering it possible to cut them without breaking down the tissues to such an extent as to destroy their surfaces for polishing—while others, says Hardwood, becoming discolored from steaming or boiling, and being too hard to cut otherwise, have to be sawed. The fine-toothed, thin-gauge circular, with flanged center, is the favorite for cutting all ordinary veneers thicker than 30 to the inch; 20 to the inch is the thickness most commonly used for cabinet work and finishing, but much thinner is used in the case of rare and costly woods, or rare abnormal or accidental figures, as in the case of burls. Some woods have to be cut much thicker, being unable to bear handling when too thin; genuine ebony, the only fine really jet-black wood known, and large enough to be of any use, will not stand sawing much below one-fourth of an inch in thickness, owing to the extreme brittleness or want of cohesion, but there are other woods that can be cut as thin as writing paper and still be handled in large sheets. Other woods there are that will lose their fine color on exposure to the atmosphere, especially a smoky one; these are cut only when immediately wanted, and are kept covered until the finishers can put on a protective coat of some preparation.

ANIMAL WARFARE.

Monkeys of Africa Depend Upon Their Numbers and Discipline.

The conditions of the life of the monkey in Africa are sufficiently curious without reference to their acquired habits, though these are undoubtedly due to the dangers to which the nature of the country in which they live exposes them. The different species of baboons, which are found commonly over the whole African continent, are all by nature dwellers in the open country. They find their food on the ground, and whether this be insects or vegetables, it is usually in places which afford little shelter or protection. Though strong and well armed with teeth, they are slow animals, with little of the monkey agility when on the ground, and not particularly active even when climbing among rocks.

In a rocky "kopjes" of the south, says the Spectator, of the cliffs and river sides of Abyssinia and the Nile tributaries, they are safe enough. But they often abandon these entirely to invade the low country. During the Abyssinian expedition conducted by Lord Napier of Magdala they regularly camped near our cantonments on the coast and stole the grain on which the cavalry horses and transport animals were fed. When on expeditions of this kind they often leave their strongholds for days together, and the means of joint defense from enemies in the open country are then carefully organized. Their natural enemies when thus exposed are the leopard, the lion, and the southern Africa and Cape wild dogs. To the attack of the leopard they oppose numbers and discipline.

PLAGUED WITH BACILLI.

French Town Which Has Come Into a Heritage of Consumption.

It has long been a cause of controversy among physicians as to whether consumption is contagious or not, and one of the strongest arguments, says the New York Journal, that it is that has yet been produced is the story of the fate of the villagers of Mentone. Forty years ago this place was one of the healthiest villages in France, whose inhabitants were of superb physical development. It was discovered about this time that the climate of Mentone was remarkably beneficial in cases of lung diseases, and people afflicted in this way flocked thither from all parts of Europe. The natural result was that the people who had hitherto been engaged in farming one and all took themselves to ministering in various ways to the throngs of invalids. The strong and healthy women of Mentone became laundresses and washed, without taking the least precautions, the consumptives' clothes. The place is now described as being a "bacillus pest hole." The very soil and air are said to be contaminated.

There's no help wanted from soap or anything else, when you use Pearline. Pearline and water—all alone by themselves—that's everything you need for the best, the easiest, the safest, the most economical washing and cleaning. What help can soap add to it? You might just as well get a horse to help a locomotive. Anything that soap can do, Pearline can do better—and can do a great deal more besides.

Send It Back if Pearline" IT'S FALSE—Pearline is not imitated and if your grocer sends you "this is as good as" or "the same as Pearline," be honest—send it back. 581

Gladness Comes

With a better understanding of the transient nature of the many physical ills, which vanish before proper efforts—gentle efforts—pleasant efforts—rightly directed. There is comfort in the knowledge, that so many forms of sickness are not due to any actual disease, but simply to a constipated condition of the system, which the pleasant family laxative, Syrup of Figs, promptly removes. That is why it is the only remedy with millions of families, and is everywhere esteemed so highly by all who value good health. Its beneficial effects are due to the fact, that it is the one remedy which promotes internal cleanliness without debilitating the organs on which it acts. It is therefore all important, in order to get its beneficial effects, to note when you purchase, that you have the genuine article, which is manufactured by the California Fig Syrup Co. only and sold by all reputable druggists.

If in the enjoyment of good health, and the system is regular, laxatives or other remedies are then not needed. If afflicted with any actual disease, one may be commended to the most skillful physicians, but if in need of a laxative, one should have the best, and with the well-informed everywhere, Syrup of Figs stands highest and is most largely used and gives most general satisfaction.

MT. SALEM.

The Cyclone's Destruction—Children's Day Exercises—Sunday Evening Lectures—Much Sickness.

Correspondence ARGUS AND MAIL BAY.

—Mr. and Mrs. Coe Van Sickle, of Port Jervis, are visiting at Mr. James Northrup's.

—Harrison Decker, near this place, has been building an addition to his house and building a new house, and otherwise improving his place.

—There is quite a good deal of sickness on the mountain road, and the doctor, last week, called at almost every house on his rounds. Mrs. Samford Writer is not yet over the effects of her fall, of a few weeks ago, and Miss Lizzie Everett is under the doctor's care with rheumatism.

—The Sunday evening lectures on the "Prodigal Son," by Rev. Mr. Edwards, of this place, are very good and well attended.

—Rector Evans, of Middletown, spent Tuesday of this week at M. W. Elston's.

—The Children's Day exercises, Sunday evening, were very largely attended and the church did not begin to hold all the people who were there, and every available hitching place for half a mile around was at a premium. The singing and recitations were very good, and one worthy of especial note was rendered by Mr. S. N. Ferguson's seven-year-old son, of New York city.

—Mt. Salem, up to the times as usual, was visited by the cyclone of last week. It blew the chimney from Mr. Isaac Winter's house and tore an extension from its foundation, besides uprooting trees and laying waste all things in its course.

—Mr. St. John, of High Point Inn, is having a bicycle path built around the lake, which will be a great attraction to the lovers of the wheel, and will no doubt call many more cyclists there. He has it nearly half finished now, and is pushing it through as fast as possible.

Salt Said to Kill Army Worms.

An Oneida county farmer claims to have discovered that the army worm is killed when it comes in contact with salt and says that crops can be protected and the worms confined to fields they are devastating by surrounding them by a layer of salt.

Two Lives Saved.

Mrs. Phoebe Thomas, of Junction City, Ill., was told by her doctors she had Consumption and that there was no hope for her, but two bottles of Dr. King's New Discovery completely cured her and she says it saved her life. Mr. Thos. Eggers, 139 Florida St., San Francisco, suffered from a dreadful cold, approaching Consumption, tried without result everything else then bought one bottle of Dr. King's New Discovery and in two weeks was cured. He is naturally thankful. It is such results, of which these are samples, that prove the wonderful efficacy of this medicine in Coughs and Colds. Free trial bottles at McMonagle & Rogers Drug Store. Regular size 50c. and $1.00.

When we consider that the intestines are about five times as long as the body we can realize the intense suffering experienced when they become inflamed. DeWitt's Colic and Cholera Cure subdues inflammation at once and completely relieves the difficulty: W. D. Olney.

Eli Hill, Lumber City, Pa., writes: "I have been suffering from Piles for twenty-five years and thought my case incurable. DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve was recommended to me as a pile cure, so I bought a box and it performed a permanent cure." This is only one of thousands of similar cases. Eczema, sores and skin diseases yield quickly when it is used. W. D. Olney.

TO VOTE ON THE WATER QUESTION

Special Election To Be Held Tuesday, July 21st, at the Corporation Rooms.

Our hold-over city officials either do not desire that Democratic citizens shall read official advertisements or else wish to compel them to buy Republican newspapers, and publish all official notices in the two Republican papers, thereby violating the spirit of the city charter. Just now the official notice of the special election to vote upon the proposition to extend the water system is being published in the Press and Times, but ARGUS readers shall be kept posted in the matter all the same. Democratic taxpayers contribute their share towards the expense of advertising, but it goes to the Republican papers, which have undertaken in return the herculean task of supporting the present administration.

The special election to vote on the proposition to extend the water system according to the plan recommended, after repeated surveys, by engineers Cross and Olney, will be held at the Corporation Rooms, on Tuesday, July 21st, from 2 until 8 o'clock.

The estimated cost of the construction of the dams, conduits and pipe lines, and securing the land and water rights is $150,000. Taxpayers only will have a right to vote.

Cretan Insurgents Kill Turks.

Washington, July 18.—The Turkish legation has received from the sublime porte the following telegram under yesterday's date: "The governor general of Crete telegraphs that the commander of the imperial sloop-of-war Iskender, having observed that a few boats were getting near the village of Kalios, and being under the impression that they were carrying ammunition to the insurgents, sent one boat with nine sailors and one midshipman in order to intercept them. Armed insurgents, however, stationed on the shore, fired on our boat and killed all its occupants."

The rooms will be opened at the time of the state convention, which will be held the first week of September.

The Stranded Steamer Colombia.

Pescadero, Cal., July 18.—The Pacific Mail steamer Colombia is still fast on the rocks and cannot be saved. The first change in the weather that brings in a heavy sea will tear her to pieces. Her compartments are awash up to the between decks, and the additional weight of water holds the ship down more steadily on the reef.

A Good Standing Army.

The army of Japan, in the opinion of men versed in military affairs, is one of the best organized armies in the world. Petty Dalmouth is counted to be a candidate for Congress in the First District in the interest of sound money

Yesterday's shipments of gold sent the reserve down to $93 881 000 Should the demands upon the Treasury continue another bond issue will be necessary

Tom Reed has decided to again be a candidate for Congress and gives as a reason that the candidacy of Sewall is bad for Maine's electoral vote that makes it necessary for every Republican to do his duty

Gov Morton has designated Morgan J O Brien of the First Judicial District to sit in the Appellate Division of the Supreme Court for this district during the absence therefrom of Judge Platt who is seriously ill

The Democratic committee of Chemung county met in Norwich Thursday and unanimously adopted resolutions indorsing the candidacy of Bryan and Sewall and pledging them the hearty support of the organization

Although the women of but three states Wyoming Colorado and Utah have the right to vote for President it is within the limits of possibility that the contest will be so close that the vote of the states named will decide the contest in which event the choice would be made with some show of truth that a handful of women in three mining camp states had determined the choice of president

The Watchman says that William T Thornton of Montecello who is anxious to succeed the late James Ballantine as Senator from the Sullivan–Delaware–Chemung district is leaving no stone unturned in his canvass Hess advised by George McLaughlin chairman of the County Committee who is an avowed candidate for Member of Assembly In his comments on the situation the Watchman says that Judge Thornton sent in politics was never better illustrated than in the shelving of Judge Potts whose eyes were turned Senatewards by placing him on the ticket to empty and profitless honor

Chairman Hinkley has issued a call for a meeting of the Democratic State Committee July 28th to call the State Convention Accompanying the call is a brief address to the Democracy of the state in which he suggests that no definite political action be taken until the assembling of the convention which he says may be trusted to take such patriotic measures as the honor and interests of the party and country both for the present and future may demand This address was issued after consultation with Senator Hill and other prominent Democrats and well informed politicians believe that the policy which will be pursued when the State Convention meets probably Sept 9th will be to endorse the Chicago candidates reaffirm the adherence of the Democracy of New York to the gold standard and make a campaign as regardless as possible on state issues

The World publishes today the responses of the Chairmen of many of the Democratic County Committees in this State to inquiries as to whether Democrats in their respective counties approve the Chicago platform and candidates whether there is any sentiment in favor of sound money Democratic candidates and if not how it is held to do what percentage of the Democratic vote would be lost on the sound money issue Chairman Hinkley of the State Committee is also Chairman of the Dutchess County Committee and estimates that but a Democrats of that county will vote against the ticket Chairman Sullivan of the Queens County Committee estimates that but a Democrats of that county will vote against the ticket Chairman Thornton of Sullivan estimates that 40 per cent of the Democratic vote of that county would be lost through sound money defections Chairman Horton of Niagara estimates that 40 per cent of the Democratic vote of that county would be lost through sound money defections Other responses to the World tell a different story They all agree that Democrats accept the platform and candidates comparatively satisfactory and in many counties especially in the northern and western part of the State it is predicted the large gains which Democratic votes will make through the support which the silver Republicans will give Bryan and Sewall

OFF FOR STATE SAMP.

The 24th Separate Company Starts for Peekskill for a Week's Tour of Duty.

The 24th Separate Company left town on Erie train 38, this morning, for Newburgh, to join the 5th and 10th Separate Companies and go to the State Camp at Peekskill for a week's tour of duty.

Long before train time there was a big crowd at the depot, mostly ladies, either mothers, wives, sisters or sweethearts of the boys, who wanted to see them off. There were others there who are neither mothers, wives, sisters or sweethearts of members of the company. They belong to that class who are always attracted by brass buttons and showy uniforms, no matter whether worn by soldier, policeman or railway employe.

Every member except two will be at camp this year. These are Eugene Harding and H. B. Wisner, who were detained on account of business. S. A. Gansmann, H. A. Smith, Charles P. Schwartz and Louis F. Weegenro h will go to camp Monday. The company will then have ninety-three officers and men in camp.

The following is a list of those who left town to-day:

Captain McIntyre, First Lieutenant Stivers, Second Lieutenant Stivers, Surgeon Ashley, First Sergeant Decker, Quarter Master Sergeant Schoonmaker.

Sergeants—Strack, Hathaway, Rodgers, Wallace.

Corporals—Nickinson, Conkling, W. Jones, Royce, Hoar, Barnes, Millspaugh, Dudley.

Lance Corporals—Donald, Roosa, Dickerson.

Musicians—Rose, Colwell.

Privates—G. Bowker, Bailey, Bush, Bannister, Barr, Clark, Clauson, W. Chambers, Cooper, Conkling, Cummings, O. Constable, C. Constable, J. E. Decker, E. M. Decker, Dusenberry, T. K. DeWitt, J. ALMOST MIRACULOUS ESCAPE.

Horse Killed and Wagon smashed by a Locomotive, but Occupants of the Wagon Unhurt.

An almost miraculous escape from death or injury occured at Strongtown, between Hurleyville and Liberty Falls, about 2 o'clock this morning.

Floyd Carr and a lady, whose name he refused to give, were driving across the O. and W. track, when train 36 came along and the engine struck the horse, killing it and completely demolishing the wagon.

Strange as it may seem Mr. Carr and his lady friend escaped without so much as a scratch or bruise.

KILLED BY AN ERIE TRAIN.

A Farm Hand Meets Death Near Greycourt.

John Wesley Brown, was struck and killed by Erie train seven, about one hundred rods east of the Greycourt depot, last night shortly after 9 o'clock. He was a farm hand employed by W. M. Leonard, who resides about one mile from Greycourt.

Cornor Decker was called and impaneled a jury and will hold an inquest Tuesday.

Very Heavy Travel on the O. and W.

The O. and W.'s half-holiday train, today, is made up of eleven well filled coaches. It is the heaviest train of the season. The regular trains also had a large number of city passengers bound for the country.

ANSWER TO PROTECTIONISTS.

From the Utica Observer.

Twenty-five per cent. of all the exports this year were manufactured products. Our manufacturer not only makes the goods, pays American wages and pays freight to foreign markets but he undersells his competitor, who has what our protection friends call the advantage of cheaper labor. And yet Mrs. Kinley would have us believe that our manufacturers, who can compete with foreigners in foreign markets, where the disadvantage of freight charges are against the American, cannot compete with foreigners in our own market.

A Valuable Prescription.

Editor Morriston, of Worthington, Ind., "Sun," writes, "You have a valuable prescription in Electric Bitters, and I can cheerfully recommend it for Constipation and Sick Headache, and as a general system tonic it has no equal." Mrs. Annie Stoble, 2625 Cottage Grove Ave., Chicago, was all run down, could not eat nor digest food, had a backache which never left her and felt tired and weary, but six bottles of Electric Bitters restored her health and renewed her strength. Prices 50 cents and $1.00. Get a Bottle at McMonagle & Rogers' Drug Store.

We are anxious to do a little good in this world and can think of no pleasanter or better way to do it than by recommending One Minute Cough Cure as a preventive of pneumonia, consumption and other serious lung troubles that follow neglected colds. W. D. Olney.

Pure blood and a good digestion are an insurance against disease and suffering. Burdock Blood Bitters keeps the blood pure, the digestion perfect

FIRE IN KETCHAM'S CRIST MILL.

A Blaze in the Boiler Room That Threatened Serious Consequences—Subdued by Firemen's Prompt and Effective Work.

The boiler and engine room of George Ketcham's grist mill on Montgomery street was badly damaged by fire, about 7:50 o'clock last night.

When the fire was discovered it had gained considerable headway and but for the prompt arrival and efficient work of the fire department the mill and lumber yard of Crane & Swayze might have been totally destroyed.

No time was lost and no chances were taken by sparing water. Four streams were at work within ten minutes after the first stroke of the bell and the fire was quickly extinguished.

The loss will probably reach $500 and is covered by insurance with Case & Taylor.

The origin of the fire is supposed to have been the overheating of the rafters over the boiler. Martin Cutler, the engineer, visited the mill after supper and banked his fires as usual, and Mr. Ketcham had been there but a short time before to get some feed for a customer. Neither of the men detected smoke or fire when there. Mr. Ketcham had just reached his home when the alarm sounded.

CAPTAIN VAN STEENBURGH FREE.

Was Released from Albany on July 3d.

From the Newburgh Press.

It is not generally known that Captain Van Steenburgh, who was sent to the Albany penitentiary for one year for appropriating funds of the Homer Ramsdell Freight and Transportation Company, while captain of the propellor Ramsdell, is out of jail. He was released on July 3d and is now at Searsville, his former home.

His sentence did not expire until September, but the intervening time is taken off for good behavior.

IN FRONT OF A TROLLEY CAR.

A Young Man "Throws a Fit" in a Very Dangerous Place.

A young man, who was out riding on his wheel, last evening, was seized with a fit at the corner of North and Depot streets, and fell upon the track of the electric road directly in front of an approaching car. The motorman acted promptly and brought his car to a stand-still before it reached the unfortunate man.

A Supposed Suicide Found Alive.

Joseph Pfenner, who had been employed by Fred Wehinger in Port Jervis for three years, disappeared mysteriously three weeks ago. He had on several occasions, after the death of Mrs. Wehinger, said that he would probably be dead himself in thirty days. Search was made for him and inquiry made of his friends, but nothing was heard of him and it was supposed he had committed suicide, but a day or so ago he was found working in a harvest field not far from the village.

Funeral of John C. Holley.

The funeral of John C. Holley took place at his late residence, at 2:30 o'clock this afternoon. Rev. Dr. Wilson, of St. Paul's Church, preached the funeral sermon. Gen. Lyon Post, of which deceased was a member, attended in a body and acted as a guard of honor from the house to the cemetery. At the grave the G. A. R. burial service was read. The pall bearers were members of the Post.

"Disorderlies" Given a Lecture.

The Recorder had two cases to dispose of, this morning. Both were what is known in court as "disorderlies." One was a man and the other a woman. The latter called a neighbor "out of her name" and was arrested for it. Both of the culprits were given one of the Recorder's best lectures and were discharged.

Bass Rid a Lake of Snakes.

Morgan Lake, near Poughkeepsie, which used to be noted for the number of water snakes that infested it, is now entirely free from the reptiles and it is believed that they have been devoured by the black bass with which the lake was stocked a few years ago.

A Corner Stone Laying.

The corner stone of the new Reformed church in Port Jervis, was laid at 2:30 o'clock this afternoon. Rev. Dr. S. W. Mills laid the stone, and the address was by Rev. Dr. Hermann C. Berg, of Ellenville.

Refused a Nomination for Governor.

The friends in Middletown of E. O. Locke, of Key West, Florida, will be interested in learning that he was nominated for Governor by acclamation at the Republican State Convention held at Ocala, Florida, last week. When notified of his nomination he declined the honor and G. W. Allen was nominated in his place.

Mr. Locke and family spent the summer and fall of '93 in Middletown at the Gavin farm and while here made many friends.

Hudson Valley Fruit Growers in Hard Luck.

Fruit growers in the Hudson River Valley are having a very disastrous season. Strawberries were a poor crop and the yield of raspberries is light and prices are low. Cherries were a total failure; there will be no peaches and pears promise a very poor yield. Currants have yielded well and grapes, which promises an immense crop, are the only hope of the fruit growers.

BOER AND OUTLANDER.

The Cause of the Recent Trouble in South Africa.

James Bryce, M. P., Writes Instructively of the Struggle for Suffrage Which Must Come Before Long—The Jameson Raid.

The struggle between the Boers and the strangers, which has practically become a struggle between the English and the Dutch elements, now centers in the demand of the strangers to be admitted to the electoral franchise. Formerly electoral rights were readily acquirable by an immigrant in the Transvaal, as they are to-day in the Orange Free State. In fact a residence of two years gave the vote. But when President Kruger perceived that the influx of strangers would alter the character of the electorate and ultimately transfer the balance of power to English-speaking citizens he persuaded the assembly to extend the period of residence required for citizenship, first to five and then to 15 years, and thus practically to exclude the whole of the new population which has come in since 1885. Thus electoral rights are now confined to less than 25,000 citizens, while probably double that number of persons of voting age and sex are living within the republic, debarred from those rights.

It is easy to understand Mr. Kruger's position. "These newcomers," he argues, "are in all essentials strangers to our polity. They do not belong to our Dutch Reformed churches; they do not like our customs; they do not speak our tongue. They would use their votes, if votes were given them, to turn out the present officials and legislators, and would end by making the country English, like Cape Colony or Natal. It was not for such a fate that we quitted the homes of our fathers to go out into the wilderness and overcome the Zulus 60 years ago; and against such a fate we will struggle to the end."

On the other hand, the strangers complain that, though they form a large majority of the population, own half the land in the republic and pay more than 90 per cent. of the taxes, they are denied a share in the government of the country and in the application of its revenues, and are obliged to submit to excessive and unfair imposts, voted by a legislature some of whose members are gravely suspected of corruption, and administered by officials many of whom are far from trustworthy. These were the motives which prompted the creation three years ago of an organization to obtain political reforms, and which led to the rising of the stranger population, or rather the bulk of the English-speaking portion of it, at Johannesburg in December last—a rising the declared aim of which was not the overthrow of the Transvaal republic, but to compel the Boer assembly to extend the suffrage to the newcomers.

The effect of that abortive rising and of the expedition of the British South Africa company's men, who came to help it but were surrounded and forced to surrender by the Boer forces, has so far been unfavorable to the demands of the strangers. President Kruger's hold on the citizens had been previously shaken by their dislike to the officials he had brought from Holland. The rising, however, evoked all the patriotism of the Boers and made the president, who successfully withstood it, more popular than ever. At the same time it stirred the feelings of the Dutch in the Orange Free State, and even in Cape Colony. Seeing their own kinsfolk, threatened by an expedition which had started from British soil, they forgot for the moment their own commercial grievances against the Transvaal government (which had built up a wall of tariffs against them) and gave all their sympathy to the threatened republic. As the British home government had not only disavowed, but had even tried to stop, the expedition on its way, no resentment has been felt by the Dutch against Britain.

But the movement towards a political fusion of Dutch and English in the colony has received a check, and the tendency of the Orange Free State towards a closer union with its sister republic has been strengthened. Meanwhile the grievances of the new population in the Transvaal have not been removed, and as the influx of strangers to the Witwatersrand mines will doubtless continue it is clear that something must be done to give a more or less complete satisfaction to their claims and to prevent a recurrence of the troubles of last December and January. It is impossible, in our times, for a minority to continue to rule over a large and increasing unenfranchised majority of people, superior in intelligence and wealth, however strong the original conquest of the minority may have been, and whatever sympathy their attachment to their own simple and primitive polity may evoke.—"Impressions of South Africa," by James Bryce, M. P., in Century.

Queer Tree in Thibet.

The "tree of a thousand images," which grows in Thibet, has leaves which have their centers marked with images of men, animals, birds, faces, etc. Some authorities claim that some are marked with letters and figures.

Hypochondriacal, despondent, nervous, "tired out" men—those who suffer from backache, weariness, loss of energy, impaired memory, dizziness, melancholy and discouragement, the result of exhausting diseases, or drains upon the system, excesses, or abuses, bad habits, or early vices, are treated through correspondence at their homes, with uniform success, by the Specialists of the Invalids' Hotel and Surgical Institute, of Buffalo, N. Y. A book of 136 large pages, devoted to the consideration of the maladies above hinted at, may be had, mailed securely sealed from observation, in a plain envelope, by sending 10 cents in one-cent stamps (for postage on Book), to the World's Dispensary Medical Association, at the above mentioned Hotel. For more than a quarter of a century, physicians connected with this widely celebrated Institution, have made the treatment of the delicate diseases above referred to, their sole study and practice. Thousands, have consulted them. This vast experience has naturally resulted in improved methods and means of cure.

A Railroad Official's Experience.

MR. EDWARD EDMONDS, long connected with railroad construction in Nebraska, writes: "My heart troubled and pained me for 19 years. Shortness of breath was the constant and most common symptom. Intense, excruciating pain, generally followed any severe exertion. Faintness, hunger without any appetite, fluttering that made me clutch my breast, and palpitation that often staggered me as if I would fall, were frequent attacks. Again, everything would turn black if I arose from a stooping posture quickly. Sleepless nights with their prostrating unrest were numerous and I could get no rest day or night. I consulted leading physicians and tried advertised remedies. They gave me no relief. One of Dr. Miles' circulars described my case so exactly that I took Dr. Miles' New Heart Cure and I am now a well man. I hope every one troubled with heart disease will try Dr. Miles' remedies. If they will write me personally, I will gladly give them full details of my experience." EDW. EDMONDS.

CHINESE EAT NOTHING COLD.

Their Greatest Delicacy Is Said to Be Live Shrimps.

The Chinese esteem shrimps above all other things, says Pearson's Weekly. At a well-served table they are brought on swimming about in a glass bowl of water flavored with oil and vinegar, which renders the creatures hysterically alive. With an unerring thumb and forefinger the Chinese diner-out plucks forth the struggling fish, nips off the tail at one bite, and casts the useless head behind him.

Shocking as it may seem to an English housekeeper, the older the egg in China, the more perfect from an epicurean standpoint does it become, for no Chinaman who has a right regard for his palate eats a fresh boiled egg. Taken fresh, eggs are sent to soak, after having been washed in a tub of aromatic water. After a time they are removed, and the water used in mixing a paste of lime and salt, in which the eggs are packed in jars. These are hermetically sealed and set aside to stand for a month, when they are supposed to be fit for eating. Those left packed in salt and lime for 12 months or more, when opened, are found to have changed color, solidified partly and are odorless.

The chief care of the Chinese is to eat nothing cold. Warm or hot food they absorb in abundance, but rightly they maintain that cold food lowers the temperature of the stomach beyond the point where digestion can continue, and so the whole health of the body is endangered.

SOCIETY IN GAUTEMALA.

Unspeakably Dull for the Average Youth Brought Up in America.

Life in Guatemala City to a foreigner and especially a young man, says the New Orleans Times-Democrat, possesses about as much attractiveness from a standpoint of amusement as would a residence in a graveyard. There is absolutely nothing to do except work, sleep and eat. The only place a man has to go when he has finished work is to a saloon, and there he has nothing to do for recreation but drink. The door to the best society is shut in the face of Americans—"gringos" as they are called by the haughty dons—no matter what their standing. Of course, when one has official dignity he is invited to the president's ball and other official functions, and has entree into society, but there is no such thing as social intercourse in its American sense. No lady is allowed to see a young lady unless it is in the presence of her entire family under the watchful eyes of duenna, and there isn't much pleasure in this kind of a visit to most young men of America. Guatemala City has a population of 80,000, but has no theaters. There was an opera company of fair character there two years ago, but there have been no attractions at all of this kind during the past season. Living is very high in Guatemala City, and salaries are by no means correspondingly high. I would not advise any young man to go there with the idea of making his fortune. There has been too much immigration to the country as it is.

REMARKABLE LONGEVITY.

A Family of Eight Whose United Ages Foot Up to 669 Years.

The most remarkable instance of longevity in the history of the Nutmeg state, perhaps, is noted in the Kimball family of the town of Preston, one member of it, Mrs. Abby S. Cook, now is passing the closing years of her life in the home of her daughter, Mrs. William H. Cook, of Franklin street, this city, having celebrated the other day the 90th anniversary of her birthday. Mrs. Cook is the widow of the late Isaac H. Cook of Preston. A large number of her relatives, friends and neighbors called at her home on her anniversary day and congratulated her, and the venerable lady, who is still hale and active and of a cheerful spirit, entertained them.

Mrs. Cook is a member of a family of eight children, sons and daughters of Elisha and Lucy Lathrop Kimball, all of whom are alive and in vigorous health, with the exception of Mrs. Sybil A. Branch, the eldest, who died two years ago at Roxbury, Mass., aged 90 years 4½ months.

Here are the names and ages of the surviving members of the band: Abby S. Cook, 90 years old; Sarah Green, Iowa, 88; Sarah L. Brown, Chicago, 85; Nelson L. Kimball, Iowa, 82; Frances De Wolf, Chicago, 80; Lucius T. Kimball, Iowa, 78, and Rev. Nathaniel Kimball, Iowa, 76. The united ages of the brothers and sisters are 669 years, including that of Mrs. Branch.

The Deacon Undone.

There was once a deacon on Cape Cod who heard early one morning that there had been a wreck on the beach near his house. He hurried down with a couple of pillow-cases, filled one with sugar, hid it under the bank and went on to look for more groceries. While he was gone a neighbor came along on the same errand, caught sight of the pillow case, emptied it into his own bag and refilled it with sand. By and by the deacon returned empty-handed, and carried off his pillow-case without noticing the change. In fact, he filled his sugar bowl and tried to sweeten his coffee before I found out how badly he had been treated. Then he was so indignant that he confessed afterward: "I was almost wicked enough to wish there might never be another wreck on this here coast again."

To Tell a Man's Profession.

Curious as it seems there is a distinct relation between man's pursuits and the color of man's hair. An unusual proportion of men with dark, straight hair enter the ministry; red-whiskered men are apt to be given to sporting and horse flesh, while the tall, vigorous, blonde man, lineal descendant of the Vikings, still contributes a large contingent to travelers and emigrants.

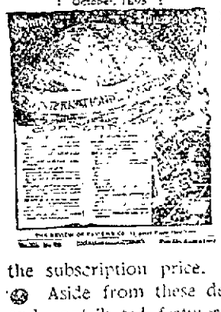
THE REVIEW OF REVIEWS

Edited by ALBERT SHAW.



THE REVIEW OF REVIEWS, as its name implies, gives in readable form the best that appears in the other great magazines all over the world, generally on the same date that they are published. With the recent extraordinary increase of worthy periodicals, these careful reviews, summaries, and quotations, giving the gist of periodical literature, are alone worth the subscription price.

FIVE MONTHS FOR $1.00.

ANNUAL SUBSCRIPTION $2.50.

Aside from these departments, the editorial and contributed features of the REVIEW OF REVIEWS are themselves equal in extent to a magazine. The Editor's "Progress of the World" is an invaluable chronicle of the happenings of the thirty days just past, with pictures on every page of the men and women who have made the history of the month.

The Literary World says: "We are deeply impressed from month to month with the value of the 'REVIEW OF REVIEWS,' which is a sort of Eiffel Tower for the survey of the whole field of periodical literature. And yet it has a mind and voice of its own, and speaks out with decision and sense on all public topics of the hour. It is a singular combination of the monthly magazine and the daily newspaper. It is daily in its freshness; it is monthly in its method. It is the world under a field glass."

"The Foot of a Fly"

says an eminent English doctor, "will carry enough poison to infect a household." In summer-time, more especially, disease germs fill the air, multitudes are infected, fall ill, die; multitudes escape. These messengers of mischief do not exist for millions. Why not? Because they are healthy and strong—protected as a crocodile is against gun-shot. It is the weak, the wasted, the thin-blooded who fall; those who have no resistive power so that a sudden cough or cold develops into graver disease. We hear of catching disease! Why not catch health? We can do it by always maintaining our healthy weight.

Scott's Emulsion

of Cod-liver Oil, is condensed nourishment; food for the building up of the system to resist the attacks of disease. It should be taken in reasonable doses all summer long by all those whose weight is below the standard of health. If you are losing ground, try a bottle now.

No Better Evidence Needed.

Customer—I don't know about buying any sausage this morning. I've got tired of always seeing a great, big, worthless dog hanging about here. It doesn't look just right for a meat market.

Butcher—You needn't be suspicious about my sassidges, ma'am, unless you come in here some morning and find that dog missin'.—Chicago Tribune.

A Great Head.

B'Jones—That was a good scheme I worked on my neighbor Bugly last evening.

B'Jinks—What was that?

B'Jones—I got him into an argument about lawn mowing, and insisted he knew nothing about it; he got so excited that in order to prove his point he lit in and mowed my whole yard.—Town Topics.

Perils of Wealth.

Jinks—Every day I read in the papers about some great man being injured by smoking. The last one is the prince of Wales. The doctors have stopped him. Now I must say, as I am a smoker myself, such things trouble me.

Winks—Oh, don't worry. All those men are rich, and can afford to smoke real tobacco.—N. Y. Weekly.

Baldness Accounted For.

"What makes your whiskers thicker on the right side of your face?" asked Gillsby of Hostetter McGinnis.

"Oh, that comes from always sleeping on the left side of the face; that rubs away the hair."

"If that's the rule, I suppose those bald-headed men must sleep while standing on their heads."—Texas Sifter

Strictly Truthful.

Marie—Jack, you told mamma a fib. You said that while you were in Monte Carlo you spent all your time bicycling, when I know positively that you were gambling at the Casino.

Jack—Bicycling? Who said anything about bicycling? I told her that I spent the most of my time on the wheel.—Town Topics.

Favorable Progress.

"Have you heard from your daughter since she started on her wedding tour? Is she happy?"

"Very much so. Only think, in Venice she commenced to have her own way in everything, and ever since they left Rome she has carried the purse!"—Tit-Bits.

The Mind Cure.

"Yes, Dr. Dobbs saved my husband's life when he had typhoid fever."

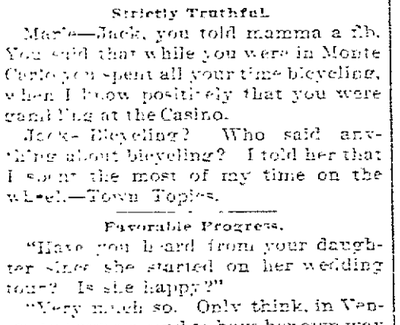
"How did he do it?"

"Ran a lawn mower up and down outside the window and threw him into a profuse perspiration."—Chicago Record.

Hard to Decide.

I summered on the Jersey coast,
And I am puzzled still,
As 'twixt the skeeters and hotels,
Which had the longest bill.
—Town Topics.

THE UP-TO-DATE MENDICANT.



"Won't you assist a poor, lame man?"—Fliegende Blaetter.

An Apology.

The Colonel—You insulted me last night—struck me with yo' cane, sah.

The Judge—'Pon my honah, sah, I apologize; and I assuah you, sah, that it nevah would have happened if I'd had my gun!—Up-to-Date.

Explained.

He—I am glad you were not hurt in that panic at the matinee. But, if everybody would remain seated, as you did, there would seldom be any trouble.

She—Yes. I was so frightened that I couldn't move.—Brooklyn Life.

A Blow from Behind.

May—Were not the colonel and Miss Passe schoolmates?

Agnes—Yes, and they are yet.

May—Where?

Agnes—In the school of scandal.—Town Topics.

Blockett's Welcome.

"I see that old Blockett has returned. Did his wife give him a warm welcome?"

"I think she did. It was ironing day and she received him with a warm flatiron!"—Detroit Free Press.

Never Had Noticed It Before.

"Curious thing about those Chinamen," observed Rivers, looking at the two passing celestials. "Their q's are as much alike as two p's."

"But their f's have a different slant," remarked Brooks.—Chicago Tribune.

Opposed to It on Principle.

Miss Imogene—Do you think it is unlucky to get married on Friday?

Miss Fortitude (coldly)—I think it is unlucky to get married on any day.—Somerville Journal.

A Short Cut to Health.

She is also survived by a half brother, Fred Green, of this city, and two half sisters, Lizzie Green and Ada, wife of Charles E. Talmadge, in Virginia. A brother, James Green, died 12 years ago.

Mrs. Jennings was a good wife and mother and was held in highest esteem by all who knew her.

The funeral will take place at her home at 2 p. m., Monday. The burial will be in Scotchtown Cemetery.

A BIT OF OFFICIAL SENTIMENT.

The Touching Words in Which Hudson's Aldermen Condoled the Bereaved Mayor.

This would be a heartless world without a little sentiment put in it now and then. One of the faults of our time is that we are too prosaic. An incident in the official life of Hudson is a pleasant exception. The Common Council met to condole with Mayor Tator in the loss of his only son. A portion of the minute adopted reads as follows:

"God washes the eyes by tears until they can behold the invisible land where tears shall come no more. O love! O affliction! ye are the guides that show us the way through the great airy space where our loved ones walked; and as hounds easily follow the scent before the dew is risen, so God teaches us, while yet our sorrow is wet, to follow on and find our dear ones in heaven."

THE RAILROAD Y. M. C. A. BUILDING

Bids Exceed the Amount Appropriated for Its Erection and Nothing Will Be Done at Present.

The officials of the O. and W. Railway Co., after receiving bids from a number of contractors on the proposed Y. M. C. A. building in this city, have given notice that the expense of the structure, according to present plans, will exceed considerably the sum appropriated for the purpose and the matter has been laid over for the present, until an additional appropriation is made or the plans changed so as to bring the cost within the appropriation.

A Valuable Invention.

Patrick Gleason, an Erie employe in Port Jervis, has invented a contrivance for putting derailed cars on the track without the assistance of a locomotive, which is spoken of as a very remarkable device. He went to New York, yesterday, to confer with Pennsylvania railroad officers who have tested it and it is understood the company will adopt it after it is patented and at the same time secure absolute control of the patent.

ATTEMPTED TO SHOOT AN OFFICER

A Negro Arrested in Port Jervis Pulls a Revolver on an Officer—Given Six Months in Albany.

Officer P. H. Collier arrested a burly negro in Port Jervis, Thursday night, and but for his presence of mind and rapid manipulation of his club would doubtless have been killed. The negro walked along with the officer all right until near the jail door, when he jerked away from him and at the same time drew from his hip pocket a 48-calibre revolver and pointed it in the officer's face, but before he could pull the trigger Mr. Collier's club landed upon his head with such force that he dropped to the sidewalk limp as a rag and the weapon fell from his grasp.

He was sentenced to six months in Albany penitentiary and his "gun," a most wicked looking one, was confiscated.

The negro gave his name as Andrew Hasbrouck and his address Florida.

A YOUNG WOMAN BURNED.

Her Light Dress Caught Fire from an Oil Stove's Flames.

Miss Grace Owen, of Warwick, while preparing tea, Thursday evening, brushed her clothing against the flames of an oil stove and her dress being of light material it took fire. She rushed out of doors screaming for help, when her nearest neighbors, Ed. Farrel and Mrs. Murray, ran to her assistance and tore the burning dress from her.

She was burned on the side of the head and on the body under her arms, but not very seriously. Mrs. Murray and Mr. Farrel had their hands burned.

Where Snakes are Numerous.

While William Mann was mowing near Bellvale a few days ago, he was startled by a rattlesnake crawling over his feet. He dispatched the reptile at once. This makes eleven rattlesnakes killed in or near that village during the last four weeks. Six pilots have also been killed to say nothing of other varieties not of a poisonous nature.

"For five weeks I lived on cold water, so to speak," writes a man who suffered terribly from indigestion.

He could hardly keep anything on his stomach. What stayed, wasn't properly digestion and gave him terrible pangs.

This is not an uncommon case. Dyspepties don't get enough nourishment. They are generally thin and weak.

They may eat enough, but they don't digest enough. Much of what they eat turns into poison. If this keeps on there's no telling what disease they may get next.

That's why it is best to take Shaker Digestive Cordial, as soon as symptoms of indigestion appear.

It cures all the evils of indigestion, and prevents the evils which indigestion causes.

IN ANCIENT GOSHEN.

Local and Personal Notes—Concerning Those Who Do "Only" Their Duty.

From a Special Correspondent.

—A fresh installment of "fresh air children" arrived at the home near Goshen on Wednesday.

—Miss Macnary, of Brooklyn, is the guest of Miss Alice Neafie at her home in this village.

—Miss Grace Wright, of New York, is visiting her aunt, Mrs. Frost, at her home on South street.

—Charles P. Berdell and family, who have been spending some time at Summit, New Jersey, have returned to their home in this village.

—Miss Sarah Coleman, of Newburgh, is visiting friends in Goshen.

—It certainly seems to be much easier for the average man or woman to find fault than to give ungrudging praise. Somehow that is the way human nature is built. The writer, a short time ago, heard some one speaking commendingly of another, when a third person said that the one under discussion was only doing her duty. When one stops to think of it, isn't that a good deal to say for anyone? Duty is apt to be a pretty stern task-mistress and the path toward which she beckons us is by no means always strewn with flowers. On the contrary it is not unfrequently rugged and most unattractive, while our guide but too often seems to us of a very unlovely countenance. Undoubtedly there are those who are saintly enough to find her companionship agreeable under all circumstances, and a sufficient reward for doing those things that it is so much easier and pleasanter for most of us to leave undone; but we fear that the ordinary every day sort of a sinner is prone at times to wish that he were either just a little bit worse, so that when he shrinks from her and refuses to follow her he might be untroubled by any qualms of conscience, or else that he were a great deal better, so that a love of her might come easily and naturally. Perhaps it is just because we do not all do our duty quite so thoroughly as we might that there is so much left over for others to attend to. The one who accepts duty as a daily companion will undoubtedly grow to find her less unlovely than she at first appeared. Her face will gradually grow as that of a friend. The way will seem less hard, until finally he will catch glimpses of many pleasant things, but the first steps must require some courage, and surely even he who only does what is right is worthy of some honor. JUST REVERSED.

How Bridget Interpreted the Dream That Went by Contraries.

An old Irishwoman, who has received many benefits at the hands of a benevolent minister and his wife, is so shiftless that occasionally the large-hearted couple lose all patience with her; but she has such a sense of humor, and such a beguiling tongue that she never fails to amuse them and finally to win them back.

At one time when money was given her to buy warm underclothing with, she wasted it upon a large photograph album. The minister spoke to her with considerable severity, as did also his wife, and for some time Bridget received no calls from either of them.

One afternoon, however, the minister relented and stopped at Bridget's door on his way to see a sick woman.

"Shure, and it's mesilf that dreamed about you last night, Misther Williams," said Bridget, with a beaming smile. "Oi dreamed that you and Missus Williams came here to see me, and says you: 'How are you off for tay and coffee, Bridget?' and Oi says: 'It's niver a drop of ayther Oi've got in the house, Misther Williams!' And thin you presinted me wid a pound of tay, and Missus Williams wid a pound of coffee on the shpot! Yis, sorr, that was me dream."

"Well, Bridget," said the minister, striving not to smile, "you know dreams are said to go by contraries."

"Shure, and that's fwhat Oi said to mesilf," exclaimed Bridget, triumphantly. "Said Oi, 'Misther Williams is the wan that'll be giving me the coffee and Missus Williams the tay!' Thim was my very thoughts, sorr."
